RESIGNATION REGRETTED

Judge A. W. Wallace, of Fredericksburg, Retires.

TO THE NAVAL ACADEMY

Dengressman Jones Has Called a Competative Examination to Select a Candidate for Appointment to Annapolis from First Dist.

Judge A. W. Wallace, who has for s of years presided over the Corporation Court of this city, has tendered resignation of that position, which has been forwarded to Governor Montague. Judge Wallace has an enviable record as an official and is a gentleman of the highest ability and most exalted character. There is such general regret at his action that there will be a public movement to try to induce him to withdraw the resignation and continue in a position which he has mied with such general satisfaction to the public. Judge Wallace is possessed of considerable means, and the salary of the office was never any object to him, and he has for some time contemplated giving up the position, which had become somewhat birdensome to him. Telegrams have been sent from this city to-day requesting Governor Montague to hold Judge Wallace's resignation and defer action. An informal meeting of prominent citizens this afternoon arranged for a mass meeting at the courthouse to-morrow night, when a committee will be appointed to call on Judge Wallace and urge him to withdraw his resignation, Congressman W. A. Jones has called a competitive examination to select a candidate for an appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis for the First Congressional District. The examination will be hold in this city Wednesday, May 6th, when the candidate and three alterinates will be decided upon by the order in which they stand at the examination. The successful candidate will enter the Academy in June. Those desiring to take the examination should address Hon. W. A. Jones at Warsaw, Va.

The Easter german given at the Opera House last night was a brilliant success. It was led by Mr. Clarence R. Howard and the muslo was furnished by Donch's orchestra, of Washington. At midnight refreshments were served, and later dancing was resumed and continued until 2 A. M. A number of visitors of both sexes participated in the event.

The heavy rains of yesterday and last night have swolen the Roppahannock River beyond its banks again, and as it is still raining, the freshet will probably reach a very high mark. WYTHEVILLE, VA. April 14.—The trial of John A. Newberry for extorting money from George N. Halsey was begun to-day in the County Court. A jury was easily secured and Halsey placed on the stand, his testimony not being concluded when court adjourned for the day. Before the trial was begun motions to quash the indictment were overruled by judgo Futton. James W Baldwin who quasa the indictment were overrised by Judge Futton. James W. Several witnesses for the plaintiff were examined before the court adjourned for the day. To-morrow morning Shelby himself will go on the stand, and it is probable that the case will go to the jury and a verdict will be rendered before night. Shelby was indicted with Sylvester Pirkle and A. J. H. Pritchard, the former of whom is in the Philippines and the latter in the Hampton jail. Shelby's is the first case to be taken up, and it is generally believed that the verdict in his case will have considerable influence upon the trial of the other two.

EFFECT OF THE MANN BILL

Number of Saloons in the County Will Be Greatly Reduced-Meeting of Good Roads Association-The Confederate Monument

(Special to The Times-Disputch.)
CHESTERFIELD, VA., April 14,—The County Court, whose April term began most part of the day in the trial of who was one of the five prisoners who iail here on the 25th of last January, Las imprisoned was that of breaking into a ing and money aggregating in value about $55, He was tried first to-day, however, upon the indictment for plotting the es-cape from fall, and the assault, along with the other prisoners, upon Jailor Cogbill with intent to maim and kill. The pris-oner's young attorney, Mr. Willis Pul-l'am, argued well for his client, and tried to show that Lassiter's part in the assault and betters and attempted shooting of and battery and attempted shooting of the faller was brought about by intimida-tion by reason of the threats of Charles Ross, the desperado of the gang, and that it with their custodian ought to be dealt with with a heavy hand, and Lassitor was given five years in the penitentiary for his escapade in trying to get free. On the advice of his counsel Lassitor for his escapade in trying to get free. On the advice of his counsel Lassiter pleaded guilty to the charge of carbreaking and larceny, and this case, which otherwise could not have been tried, because of the absence of the witnesses for the Commonwealth, was heard immediately after the first verdict was rendered, and two more years were added to the sections.

There were fourteen applicants for liquor licenses before the court this morning, but they were all turned empty away because of the fact that the court was not officially advised as to the new liquor license law so recently fought over in the Legislature. The applicants were told to return to court on next Thursday, on which day a suit of Thornton Hughes against the Virginia Passenger and Power Company will be in hearing, to learn the decision of the court as to the licenses sought. The Mann bill will knock out more than half of the liquor dealers in the county unless they can secure the requisite number of petitioners of the voters of their respective precincts. The new register of votes was much in demand today, and several of those applicants for licenses whose places of business are outside the villages of Swanshoro and Etticks are preparing to begin their can-There were fourteen applicants for li-application.

A called meeting of the Executive Committee of the County Confederate Monument Association was held during the recess for dinner, and the matter of making an alteration in the position of the bronzo statue on the monument was discussed. The committee being dissatisfied with the appearance of the figure, which is somewhat obscured by the large capsions underneath as one approaches near to the base of the shart, authorized and requested Judge Clopton to have the statue raised about fifteen inches above the capstone, as it now is, the narrower stone on which it is to rest serving to show the bronze soldier to much greater advantage. The estimated cost of the change is about $100.

Judge Timothy Rives, of Prince George county, will hold court here on Wednesday, when the case of the Manchester Home Building and Loan Association against T. D. Porter will be tried.

GOOD ROADS IN CHESTERFIELD

Meeting of the Association at Courthouse-Henrico Roads . Discussed.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CHESTER, VA., April 14.—At Chester-leid Courthouse yesterday the Good Roads Association met to discuss tha plan suggested by Mr. Charles N. Friend, the president of the association and published in The Times-Disputch. Mr. W. E. Grant, of Henrico, was present by invitation and related to the association the history of the working of Henrico roads, now famous as being the Henrico roads, now famous as being the best in Eastern Virginia, if not the whols state. Mr. Grant stated, among othes things, that no amount of money available by counties was sufficient to make or keep good roads while wegons with narrow three wore allowed to non on the roads. He denominated them "road destroyers," while he stated that wide three were 4 road buildors," He advocated that each magisterial district should own its own teams and implements, and should employ a suitable man to run the team

each magisterial district should own the came and implements, and should employ a sultable man to run the team and road force. He stated that ones third the team could now draw as heavy loads on Henrico's roads as was formerly required on the old roads. He did not believe in putting out road-building by contract.

The plan of Mr. Erlend was then discussed, and on motion of Mr. Howard Swineford, and amended by Mr. James Bellwood, Judge William I. Clopton, Altorney & H. Wells, Hons. P. V. Cogbill and W. W. Baker were requested to meet with Mr. Howard Swineford, James Bellwood and B. T. Watkins, and, with Mr. Friend's plan as a basis, to formulate a plan, if needed, after reading the Edmundson road law, lately passed by the House, and the plan secured by Hon, P. V. Cogbill about two years ago, and urge that Senator Cogbill offer any amendment they may adopt at their conconference.

The Chester Business Association meets

The Chester Business Association meets again to-night to consider the establication ment of a cannery here, and to adopt a constitution, by-laws and rules.

A number of lots have recently passed hands here, and a good many buildings are expected to be erected soon.

Last Saturday night an old colored woman was burned to death in the house of her son. John Griffin, a ministerial student in Richmond, while her daughters had gone to a "festival." Neighbors got to the house too late to rescue her, and she was completely consumed by the flames. The house was a new one, lately erected by the thrift and energy of John Griffin.
